Classified as a caster, it supports controlled movement of prep table equipment during routine repositioning and cleaning tasks. The configuration aligns with standard commercial kitchen hardware requirements.

This caster is manufactured using polyurethane and zinc-plated steel, combining a durable rolling surface with a rigid metal frame. Polyurethane is specified for the wheel material, while zinc-plated steel forms the structural body, reflecting materials commonly used for foodservice equipment mobility parts in commercial kitchens.

The unit is defined as a caster with break, indicating an integrated stopping mechanism as stated in the specifications. It features a 2.5 in caster size, which identifies the wheel diameter for compatibility with sandwich, salad, and pizza prep table bases in food handling areas.
